State School Head Is Hurt In Car Wreck

Vocational Education Director Joy Talley Has Accident Friday

Joy C. Talley, Jefferson City, the state director of vocational education of the State Department of Education, was seriously injured about 7:15 a. m. Friday when his car overturned on Highway 50 about two miles east of LaMonte.

Talley's left ear was nearly severed, he suffered a bruised left knee, painful bruises about his chest and possible fractured ribs. He was taken to Bothwell Hospital in the Parker-Moore ambulance from LaMonte.

Dr. Stanley Fisher treated Talley at the hospital and had X-rays taken to determine whether fractures occurred.

Talley told State Trooper Pete Stohr he was headed west on the highway and had started to pull out around a string of traffic when a car pulled out in front of him. To avoid hitting this car, Talley said he pulled to the shoulder.

The car went off the pavement and along the slanting shoulder until it struck a drive-off. The car hit this, went into the air and rolled over, landing on its top.

The car, a 1956 Ford sedan, was demolished.

M/Sgt. W. G. Logan, 2412 West Second; M/Sgt. Joseph Schwartz, 2431 West Third, and T/Sgt. R. E. Bornsheuer, 2409 North Woodlawn, all from Whiteman AFB, stopped at the scene and remained with Talley until he was taken to the hospital. They also looked after his personal belongings until officers arrived and then turned the belongings over to the officers.

The car was towed to Dresden by the Earl Manley wrecker.

Police Hunt Motive Of Crossbow Attack On Liquor Clerk

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police tried today to discover the motive for a mysterious crossbow and arrow attack that left a young liquor store clerk in critical condition from a body-piercing wound.

The motive, they believed, would lead to quick apprehension of the skulking Bowman who fired the steel-tipped arrow from a dark alley Wednesday night.

William Allen, 20, was being given continuous blood transfusions in an effort to strengthen him for surgery to repair a punctured lung and a severed artery.

The stout bow and four arrows, along with their store-fresh wrappings, were found in the alley.

They were traced to a downtown Los Angeles sporting goods store, where a crossbow and six arrows had been sold at 10 a. m. Wednesday.

The store clerk, Charles Sanchez, told police the buyer was blond, about 24, of average height. Sanchez said his offer of practice arrows was refused with the brusque retort: "I don't need any practice."

Kansas City, Kansas, Employees of Swift Vote Against Strike

KANSAS CITY, Kan., (AP)—Employees of the Swift & Co. packing plant here voted 781 to 390 yesterday against striking.

Atom Meet Jumps Hurdle Of Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The conference to create an international atom-for-peace agency settled today after getting past its first hurdle on the inevitable question of admitting Communist China. The Red Chinese question was expected to be raised again, however, before the five-week meeting ends.

The conference coordination committee scheduled a meeting today to elect a chairman and recommend a conference timetable.

The committee is made up of the 12 countries that drafted the proposed constitution for the atomic agency in Washington earlier this year.

The debate on China took place shortly after the conference began yesterday. Georgi Zarubin, Soviet ambassador to Washington, argued that the Communist Chinese government should be present for the conference and in the agency as representative of "600 million peaceful people."

'Arubin drew support from 11 of the 30 nations on hand—India, Syria, Czechoslovakia, Indonesia, Ceylon, Afghanistan, the Ukraine, Hungary, Poland, Romania and White Russia.

The Soviet Union, India and other nations already have expressed dissatisfaction with a provision of the proposed constitution for the uranium-sharing agency that bars the Chinese Communists by limiting membership to the 87 countries in the U. N. and its specialized agencies.

Nationalist Chinese Delegate T. F. Tsiang opposed Zarubin, saying, "My government is the only legitimate government of China." South Korea and Paraguay backed him up.

A Czechoslovak suggested that Communist North Viet Nam be invited to join the conference and the agency drew objection from South Viet Nam.

No motion was made, however, to invite the Peiping and Hanoi governments, and thus no vote was necessary. U. S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth, temporary chairman for the opening session, let the debate die and went on to get the conference agenda and rules adopted.

The conference unanimously elected Joao Carlos Muniz, Brazilian ambassador to Argentina, president, and Pavel Winkler, of the Czechoslovak Foreign Ministry, vice president.

Two Kansas City Women Leaders Tell Legislative Group Of Need For Curb

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Prohibition of the sale of salacious and pornographic publications should be included in any revision of the Missouri juvenile code, two Kansas City women leaders told a legislative committee here yesterday.

The joint committee, headed by State Sen. George A. Spencer of Columbia, was to conclude its two-day hearing today.

Mrs. Fred Koenig, legislative chairman for the Federation of Catholic Parent-Teacher Assns., and Mrs. Maurice O'Sullivan, chairman of the commercial recreation committee of the mayor's Advisory Committee, told the legislators of concern over sale of salacious literature and pornography.

Dr. George J. Lytton, psychiatrist with the Greater Kansas City Mental Health organization, told the committee many delinquent children are emotionally ill and need psychiatric treatment but present facilities are inadequate. He said the work could be done through juvenile court if sufficient funds are provided.

Dr. Hayes Richardson, Kansas City welfare director, suggested the legislators consider revision of child labor laws.

The use of family courts to take over cases involving parents and children from circuit courts was suggested by C. Harold Mann, a representative of the Association of Community Councils.

Mann said his group also recommended that the state compulsory school attendance law which now permits students to leave school at 14, be changed to conform with federal law which prohibits children under 16 from seeking employment in certain activities. Placement supervisor E. Owen Hammond of the Kansas City public schools, also recommended that state and federal child labor laws be made consistent.

"Young people seek illegal employment because they leave school at 14 but can't work (under federal law) until they are 16," Hammond said.

Senator Gore Will Address Democrat Rally

The Pettis County Democratic Committee opens its fall campaign with a rally tonight on the courthouse lawn, at which time United States Senator Albert Gore, Carthage, Tenn., will be the principal speaker. The speaking will begin at 8 p. m.

Congressman Morgan Moulder, of the Missouri 11th Congressional District of which Pettis County is a part, will introduce the speaker. Congressman Moulder, himself a candidate for re-election, is a personal friend of the visitor.

County Chairman John C. McCloskey will preside over the meeting and will introduce the county candidates and Congressman Moulder who will give a brief introductory talk.

From 7 o'clock until 8 there will be entertainment for the early arrivals.

Senator Gore will remain in Sedalia overnight to attend the annual fall Black Angus cattle sale being held by E. W. Thompson at the Thompson Ranch on West Highway 50 all-day Saturday. He leaves Saturday afternoon for Kansas City, Kan., where he will speak at another Democratic rally.

More Windy Weather Forecast for State

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Mild but windy weather prevailed in most of Missouri today.

More of the same was forecast for this afternoon, tonight and tomorrow under partly cloudy skies.

Winds ranged up to 29 miles per hour at Springfield with gusts up to 44. Temperatures ranged from 65 at St. Louis to 80 at Joplin. Most readings were in the upper 70s.

The Weather Bureau said it would be warmer in the east portion tonight with readings in the low 70s in the southeast, in the 60s elsewhere. There may be some scattered showers in the east tonight.

Saturday the winds will diminish and, the weather bureau predicted, it will be much cooler in the northwest and cooler elsewhere.

Three More Greek Rebels Are Hanged

Fellow Prisoners Shout Protest Of British Rule

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Three more Greek Cypriot rebels were hanged today as fellow prisoners shouted and sang to protest Britain's rule over this Mediterranean island colony.

A general strike by the island's Greek Cypriot residents went into its second day. PEKA, a new nationalist underground organization circulated leaflets saying the strike would continue three days "in tribute to three more heroes."

Fresh anti-British violence flared.

Hanged behind the walls of Nicosia's central prison shortly before 2 a. m. were Michael Koutsotef, Andreas Panayides and Stelios Mavrommatis. Their deaths brought to eight the number of nationalist extremists hanged since Greek Cypriots 18 months ago began a campaign of violence to end British rule and join Cyprus to Greece.

Koutsotef and Panayides, both 23, were convicted of the slaying of a Royal Air Force corporal, Mavrommatis, 23, was convicted of shooting at two RAF cyclists.

In the tense hours just before the hangings, the nearly 400 other prisoners in the central prison raised a deafening clamor in their cells. They shouted "Long live EOKA," and sang the Greek national anthem and hymns.

EOKA is the underground organization that has been leading the campaign of violence against the British.

Gov. Sir John Harding turned down last-minute pleas for mercy presented by lawyers for the trio. Close relatives of the condemned men were permitted to visit them shortly before the executions. They reported the three were calm and said they were "proud" to die as heroes.

Their bodies were buried in a tiny cemetery inside the prison grounds—alongside those hanged previously—to forestall burial as "national heroes" if the bodies were turned over to their families.

Staples Aims Fire At 'Veto Session'

JEFFERSON CITY, (AP)—Edward Staples aimed a new broadside today at a proposed constitutional amendment calling for annual sessions and a mandatory "veto session."

Staples is executive director of the Missouri Public Expenditure Survey, a taxpayers' group which studies governmental problems. He struck out at the constitutional proposal in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of delegates to the 1943-44 constitutional convention.

Staples said the plan for a mandatory 15-day "veto session" after the end of regular sessions would make the last minute legislative logjam even worse than it is now.

Young Negro Attorney—

Draft Postponement of Negro Brings Board Resignations

Nervous Robbers Leave Before Getting Money

Two youthful Negro would-be holdup men couldn't stand the heavy traffic on South Highway 65 about 8:15 a. m. Friday and gave up their attempt to hold up E. D. Osburn, 1718 West 18th, attendant at the State Fair Floral Service station, 16th and Limit.

The driver of an old green Ford sedan produced a revolver as Osburn walked up to the car and said, "Give us the money." Osburn said he turned and walked around the back of the car thinking the Negro was following him to go into the station and give it to him.

"But as I went in the station office, the car drove off and headed east on 16th," Osburn said. "About that time of the morning there is an awful lot of traffic on the highway and I suppose they got scared and decided to leave."

Osburn described the two Negroes as being 17 or 18 years old and wearing ordinary work shirts. A good description was obtained and given the police and State Highway Patrol.

They wouldn't have got much, anyway, as little money is kept at the station, especially at that hour of the morning, according to a report given the officers.

ASC Committees Name Manager for County

COLUMBIA, (AP)—Affairs of the Pemiscot County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee office will be handled by Dean Vick of Caruthersville until an office manager is named about Oct. 15.

Vick was appointed yesterday at a four-hour meeting of the county and state ASC committees. The new county committee had dismissed C. D. Watkins as office manager last Friday.

The former county ASC committee first dismissed Watkins last Oct. 15, but the state committee refused to recognize that action. Watkins will get a hearing here on his appeal from the new dismissal, Murray Colbert, state chairman, said yesterday.

Colbert said the state committee has 533 letters favoring Watkins and several opposing him.

Pakistan Hints It Might Join Canal Users

LONDON, (AP)—The 18-nation Suez conference ended tonight with France—one of its sponsors—refusing immediate approval of the projected canal users' association.

LONDON (AP)—The 18-nation Suez conference ended tonight with a hint from Pakistan a holdout, that it might join the Western-sponsored Cooperative Assn. of Suez Canal Users, already assured majority backing.

Pakistani Foreign Minister Sir Feroz Khan Noon, who had complained the users plan as originally outlined by U. S. Secretary of State Dulles was too much like an ultimatum to Egypt, told delegates that as now presented it emphasizes cooperation with Egypt.

Therefore, he said, it will be laid before his government for a decision as to whether Pakistan would join. He made clear the sponsors were not asking delegates for immediate decisions, though a dozen nations, including the Western Big Three, have gone on record in favor of the plan.

The association scheme "as it has now emerged is quite different from the original draft, he said.

Later tonight, conference authorities were expected to issue details of the project. They were expected to issue also a declaration surveying the Suez dispute since Egypt's July 26 nationalization of the canal and reaffirming their view that the canal should be under international control.

Experts of 17 of the nations agreed on the form and timing of an approach to the United Nations.

They hammered out the accord after the final touches to a plan setting up the "Cooperative Assn. of Suez Canal Users" (CASCUS) to protect the rights of the maritime nations in the canal Egypt took over July 26.

Only Pakistan, of the 18 nations in conference here since Wednesday, stayed away from the experts' meeting. The Pakistani delegation, which regards the majority approach as too much like an ultimatum to Egypt, said it could not attend without more instructions from Karachi.

However, Japan also came out against the users project as it stands and three other conference nations—Sweden, Denmark and Iran—called instead for an immediate approach to the U. N. Ethiopia's position remained to be announced.

Indications were that all the rest of the conference nations, an even dozen, could be counted on to join as soon as their governments at home gave formal approval.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, described as a highly pleased, planned to fly back to Washington tonight.

"He didn't expect so much agreement," an authoritative American source said. "Most if not all the 18 will join the users' association. We never expected all 18 would sign on the dotted line."

In Tokyo, Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu told newsmen Japan will not take part in the plan unless and until it wins Egypt's support.

Sir George Young, British Foreign Office spokesman, said the experts' session was "harmonious and cooperative" and that it drew up two documents:

1. A paper dealing with the formation of the association, some points of which still have to be ironed out by the foreign ministers and other delegation chiefs.

2. A draft resolution, which is understood to include a condemnation of Egypt's nationalization of the canal; a reaffirmation that international control of Suez should be the basis of a final settlement, and an announcement on the form and timing of an approach to the U. N.

Says Brownell Role 'Doesn't Smell Good'

MISSOULA, Mont. (U-P)—Sen. Estes Kefauver, the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, said today that Atty. Gen. Brownell's role in the Dixon-Yates case "doesn't smell good."

"This administration has much to be ashamed of in the Dixon-Yates scandal," he said in a statement, "and it can hardly be proud of its attorney general."

Kefauver renewed his assault on the canceled Dixon-Yates power contract before leaving for Oregon, where the administration's power policies are a major issue in the election campaign.

His visit takes him into Oregon two days behind Vice President Nixon, who told an audience at Eugene that the nation's power resources can best be developed under the administration's "Partnership" program with local and private groups.

This drew a retort from Kefauver in a speech last night that Nixon on had told "a whooper" and that Republican "truth squads" assigned to follow Democratic campaigners had better get on Nixon's trail.

"This sounds more like the old Nixon, treating so lightly with the truth," Kefauver said.

"The truth is that not one single kilowatt-hour of electricity has been produced under the Eisenhower partnership policy."

"Gen. Eisenhower will not let the American people have the power developed in their own rivers unless it just goes through a private utility toll-gate."

Kefauver was scheduled to deliver his speech at a party rally in Kalispell, Mont., but he had to have it piped by telephone from Missoula after bad weather prevented his plane from reaching Kalispell.

Marshall Youngsters Will Visit Air Base

On Saturday, nearly 100 youngsters from Marshall, sponsored by the Marshall Kiwanis Club will be guests of the Whiteman Air Force Base in conjunction with the annual celebration of "Kids Day."

After arriving on the base at approximately noon the children, all six grades, will eat lunch in Dining Hall One. Last year the chance to eat in the dining halls along with airmen was a big hit with the visitors.

Following chow the group will be taken on an extended tour of the flight line and base facilities, lasting over two hours.

St. Louis Praised By Soviet Delegate

ST. LOUIS, (U-P)—A 31-year-old mother of three children, who made three blood donations in slightly more than a year, was congratulated as a "brave woman" by the head of a Russian Red Cross delegation visiting St. Louis.

US and Soviet Encounter Red Tape Trouble

NEW YORK (U-P)—For two months the projected Soviet-American exchange of official propaganda periodicals has been tangled in red tape.

There's no indication it will get unscrambled soon.

Thousands of copies of the Soviet government's English-language magazine U.S.S.R. are lying in a Manhattan warehouse. Thousands of copies of the Russian-language Amerika are stacked up in the American Embassy in Moscow.

State Department officials said today negotiations are going on in Moscow over the question of how big a cut the official Soviet government distribution agency is going to take from the sale price of Amerika. Until that is agreed, the officials indicated, there isn't going to be any exchange.

The U.S. and Soviet governments agreed on the exchange last December. Both magazines were ready to go in early July. A simultaneous release date for both early that month had been hoped for. But it was delayed when the Soviet distribution agency failed to present a contract covering Amerika to the U.S. Embassy for a considerable period.

The Soviets, meanwhile, had reached an agreement with State Department approval for the American News Co. to distribute U.S.S.R.

When the draft Soviet contract did arrive at last, State Department officials reported the Soviet agency was attempting to outdo capitalists in its commission margin. The Russian agency has been seeking, apparently, to slice off more than half the sale price of 5 rubles ($1.25 at the official exchange rate).

The Soviet government intends to price U.S.S.R. at 20 cents on American newspapers. American News Co. declines to indicate exactly how much of this the Soviet Embassy will get—but informed guesses are that it is likely to be a little over half.

Revived 101st Airborne Gives Demonstrations

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (U-P)—The Army shows off today its new atomic-age fighting outfit, the 101st Airborne Division, brought back into existence from its famous days of World War II.

It arranged elaborate ceremonies and demonstrations by its paratroopers and their missile and atomic weapons to mark formal reactivation of the Screaming Eagle Division—the name coming from the shoulder patch worn by the 101st.

Not only are many of the weapons and techniques of battle new for the division, but its size and organization differ drastically from the outfit which drifted down into battle in Normandy, in Holland and at Bastogne.

Against the 17,500-man strength of standard infantry divisions, and the 13,000 or 14,000 men of other airborne divisions, the 101st has 11,500 men. Instead of the traditional three-regiment core of combat strength, the 101st is made up of five "combat groups"—smaller, more flexible, but with heavy firepower and high mobility in the air and on the ground.

The 101st will fight atomic war, if war comes, with its own atomic weapons. Included in the basic weapons will be the Honest John rocket, which has a range of about 20 miles and can be fitted with an atomic warhead.

Despite its size, the rocket can be transported by air to frontline positions of "airheads" established by invading paratroopers behind enemy lines.

Judge Says US Drive On Reds Gets Fringe

LOS ANGELES (U-P)—Federal Judge Harold R. Medina, who presided at the 1949 trial of top U.S. Communists in New York, says the nation's drive on Communists has cleaned out "only the fellows on the fringe."

"The really dangerous ones in the hard-core center have simply changed their strategy," Medina said. "It would be a very grave mistake for America to become less vigilant."

Here for a state bar convention, Medina also told interviewers: "I'd rather see every Communist go scot free than abandon, dilute, or diminish a single one of our constitutional freedoms—and that includes the Fifth Amendment."

Newsboy Is On Trial For Shouting Headline

ANKARA, Turkey (U-P)—A 15-year-old newsboy went on trial here yesterday, charged with shouting a headline.

The boy, Tahsin Vedat Mutlu, is the first to be tried under the no-shouting clause of Turkey's strict new press law. It was adopted in early June to stop what Premier Adnan Menderes called "journalistic sabotage" of his policies.

Mutlu, a high-school student, is accused of selling papers Aug. 22 by crying: "Finance Minister Resigns." Finance Minister Nedim Okmen had handed in his resignation that day without explanation.

Fires

Fire threatened a bean patch of Jack Funk on his airport farm property near Dresden shortly before noon Friday and caused a run by the Pettis County fire department and one truck from the west Sedalia fire station.

Brush on the property adjoining the municipal dump yard had caught fire from sparks from a fire on the city property, and was spreading toward the Funk farm when the alarm was sounded.

The large bulldozer at the dump yard was taken over to Funk property and a wide swath around the bean patch to separate it from the burning brush.

The water in the tanks on both trucks was used to dampen down the flames and dry weeds around the fire to keep it from spreading.

Dr. Collins Discusses Suez Canal

The normal bargaining capabilities of the Egyptians are expressed in the current "crisis over Suez," according to Dr. M. Earle Collins, president of Missouri Valley College, who traveled, lived and taught in Egypt at Assuit College, speaking before the Sedalia Kiwanis Club meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday.

The speaker, who was introduced by I. H. Reed, program chairman, gave a profound interpretation of the character of the Egyptians, their religion, their daily life of the well-to-do and the impoverished, and the motives for the canal crisis which has been building up for years.

Dr. Miller believes that the delaying negotiations and the restraint against impulsive action encouraged by the United States is evidence that a shooting war will not evolve now, and that President Nasser's bargaining technique is recognized, for it is in the present conferences which seek a peaceful solution to the problem.

A. H. Wilks announced there would be an inter-club meeting with Clinton Kiwanians at noon Tuesday. Sedalia Kiwanis will leave Bothwell Hotel at 11 a.m. and return shortly after 2 p.m.

The Rev. Edward R. Sims reminded members of the coming of the mobile chest X-ray units sponsored by the Pettis County Tuberculosis Society and asked that Kiwanians go in a group to the examination following the meeting next Thursday. The X-ray unit will be on the courthouse parking lot.

Invocation was by Maj. Fred Hodgeman. Singing was led by Abe Rosenthal, with Miss Lillian Fox as accompanist.

Guests were Judge Frank Armstrong, M. E. Mouser, Chicago, with I. H. Reed; D. D. Burr, Kansas City; Earl Hemphill, Portland, Ore.; with his brother, R. C. Hemphill; and Abe Silverman with Paul Hedderich.

Doesn't Think Reserve Draft Is Necessary

WASHINGTON (U-P)—Secretary of Defense Wilson says that although the volunteer reserve program isn't getting the men it needs, he still doesn't believe a compulsory draft to provide it with manpower is in order now.

However, he says that if the number of volunteers for the program doesn't pick up "we'll have to use some alternative method" of inducing young men to join up for the plan's six months of active duty and 7½ years in the active reserve.

Wilson's reply to one news conference question suggested that a possible alternative might be the release of two-year draftees after serving only 21 months, with their immediate assignment to reserve duty.

The defense chief said there is no present intention of asking Congress for new legislation to permit direct drafting of men for the reserve program. Such a possibility had been suggested last week by the National Security Training Commission.

Wilson was asked his views regarding the need for continuing the drafting of men for the Army in light of Adlai Stevenson's recent statement that "we can now anticipate the possibility, hopefully but responsibly, that within the foreseeable future we can maintain the military forces we need without the draft."

Wilson said he thought "the President commented very clearly" and covered the situation very well in his address Wednesday night. President Eisenhower said that "this (suspension of the draft) cannot be done under world conditions of today."

It was the first news conference Wilson had held since Aug. 7. There were questions about politics. Has the Republican National Committee asked Wilson to make a campaign speech?

"No sir," Wilson answered. But, he said, he thought "the people of our country are entitled to know the facts about the defense of the country." He said he thought people were entitled to know facts about the draft "and not be confused."

Wilson disclosed that the Pentagon is studying the possibility of cutting the number of Air Force wings below the 137 now planned, while at the same time increasing the number of planes in each wing.

At present, the Air Force has about 131 wings, with the 137-wing goal still showing on the schedule as attainable by next summer.

First Day of Autumn Sees Chilly Weather Over Most of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today was the last full day of the summer season and chilly autumn weather already moved in over most of the eastern half of the nation.

Frosty air extended over the lower Great Lakes region and lower Mississippi Valley eastward to the Atlantic Coast.

The summer season ends officially at 8:36 p.m., EST, tomorrow.

Temperatures were in the 30s from Virginia and North Carolina northward with some places reporting readings below freezing.

In the Southeast, however, they were in the 50s and low 60s and in Florida, where the cold air had not reached, most temperatures were in the mid-70s.

An increasing flow of southerly air brought a little warming to the central third of the country from northern Texas northward through the upper Great Lakes region and Northern Plains. Temperatures were in the 40s and 50s and edged into the upper 70s in the Southern Plains.

Mostly fair weather was reported east of the Rockies to the Eastern Seaboard.

TV Role Gives Actor New Kind of Life

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Calling Dr. Boone. Calling Dr. Boone."

This is the sort of thing that actor Richard Boone is greeted with all the time. The reason is that he plays Dr. Conrad Styner on the TV show, "Medic."

"All the time people are coming up to me and making some joke about my being in 'Medic,'" he sighs. "They can't understand why I don't fall down laughing."

Still, Boone, 39, is a patient soul and does not resort to fisticuffs. As a matter of fact, he enjoys the jokes the first few dozen times and is tolerant thereafter.

And why not? Look what "Medic" has done for him. "For three years, I didn't play anything but 'dirty men' at 20th Century-Fox," he said. "Why, we seldom got to shave. Now look at me."

I looked at him. His chin was clean-shaven and his mustache neatly clipped. His hair was combed and he wore a well-tailored business suit.

"Medic" did this for me," he said. "I'm getting my pick of pictures and 75 per cent of Eleanor Parker."

I must explain this. They are not cutting Miss Parker up into percentages. Boone is appearing in a new movie called "Lizzie," produced by Kirk Douglas' Bryna Productions. I believe he meant that his contract calls for his name to be billed in type no less than 75 per cent of the size of Miss Parker's, which is pretty good billing.

As a matter of fact, Miss Parker is actually divided into thirds in the picture. She plays a mixed-up girl with a three-way split personality.

I need hardly add Boone plays a medic in the picture. He is the psychiatrist who uncovers the trio of Eleanor Parkers.

Before "Lizzie," Boone made a Randolph Scott western, playing a heavy again—"but a heavy with a longing not to be." Next he goes into "Ball Out at 43,000 Feet." In that one he recreates his TV role as the older Air Force officer who induces a younger man to do a risky bail-out to save his self-respect. The "younger" man will be John Payne.

IS YOUR GAS FURNACE LIT?

Those cold days will be here before you realize it, and because of manpower difficulties, you may be delayed in getting your furnace lighted, if you wait until then.

Right now, we can light up a few every day, and when cold comes, you will be ready—and comfortable.

Last spring, we suggested leaving pilot lights burning on gas furnaces. The trifling cost involved is more than offset, because the small pilot light gives off enough heat to counteract dampness and prevent costly rust in your valuable gas furnace.

Those who have followed this suggestion, have not only protected their furnaces, but they are now ready, by only setting thermostats, to be comfortable in those first chilly mornings and evenings, which always precede colder weather.

We would welcome co-operation in lighting furnaces now, in the interest of better service to you—our customer.

Ignition Keys An Invitation

A twenty-year-old Chicagoan who shot his cousin to death, and wounded a Missouri State trooper near Lebanon, was captured later in a wooded area, this week.

News dispatches stated the youth fled Chicago in a stolen automobile.

The ease with which car-stealing is done throughout the country has accelerated a movement to make the automobile owner himself liable. It is common practice in Sedalia for owners to leave their vehicles on the streets daytime or nighttime with windows down and doors locked—entirely senseless—or doors unlocked and the ignition key in the car.

Sedalia hasn't had too much of a rash of deliberate car-stealing by criminals 'on the lam'. Motor vehicles here are taken usually by youthful joy-riders or someone wanting one-way transportation to the vicinity of their home after a night out in the Queen City of the Prairies.

Nevertheless we do have car stealing, and very often on a selective basis because there are so many unlocked cars to choose from.

Out in Topeka stealing became such a problem that a city ordinance was passed making owners liable to a $5 fine for leaving ignition keys in their cars. During August more than 60 Topeka drivers were fined for this violation.

To be sure a determined car thief is going to steal one regardless of keys in the ignition. He effects a jumper on the wiring but only when no easier method is available.

Car stealing is an expensive business for everyone concerned, including the owner, the insurance company, and the police. Often death is a companion rider in a stolen car.

The practice of leaving ignition keys handy is not only an invitation to the infrequent criminal visitor to our community but also provides temptation to juveniles to go on a joy-riding fling. Kansas City statistics reveal that during a six-month period when 65 motor cars were stolen by juveniles who were apprehended, 56 of the cars involved had the keys left in them by owners.

Some day Sedalia may have to have an ordinance providing penalties for leaving ignition keys in parked automobiles if car-stealing incidents increase.

Other Special Interests Are Wooded—

Politicians Seem to Neglect Oldsters

By BEM PRICE

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — In an election year politicians are acutely aware of the special interests of farmers, housewives, working stiff and businessmen of all calibers.

One special group doesn't seem to get as much attention as others. Drawn from all walks of life and maintaining all shades of opinion, members of this group have one thing in common: old age.

There are in America about 14 million people 65 or older. Just behind them in the age classifications of the Census Bureau is the 45-to-64 bracket, which includes 34 million people.

This means there are about 48 million Americans to whom the problems of aging are either very real or just around the corner.

(Incidentally, the Census Bureau predicts the over-65 group by 1975 will number 21 million, or 10 per cent of the population.)

The political potential of this middle-aged and aged group is immense, particularly when you consider that in 1952 the nation cast a record ballot of 61 million votes.

Unless you have a short memory, or are too young, maybe you will recall the time the old folks stood on their creaking legs and made themselves heard.

In 1932 the nation was in the midst of a depression. There wasn't enough work for the young, much less the old. Suffering was widespread but for the young and middle aged there was always hope of tomorrow. Until a man named Dr. Francis E. Townsend came along, the oldsters didn't even have hope.

Townsend proposed to give pensions to everybody over 60 regardless of need. Any other approach, he argued, would destroy pride and smack of public charity. His plan as eventually evolved would be financed by a 3 per cent tax on gross income and pensions would vary with the amount of tax collected.

Townsend clubs blossomed throughout the land although supporters were derided by many as impractical dreamers. Nevertheless, agitation for the Townsend plan contributed considerably to passage of the Social Security Act in 1935.

Many old folks are suffering today. Of the 14 million people in the 65 and older group, only seven million draw Social Security. The average payment is about $60 a month.

Among the remaining seven million, about half draw old age assistance benefits which range from $28.43 monthly in West Virginia to $86.43 in Connecticut.

About 16 per cent of the aged have no income from employment. Social insurance or old age assistance, though a few receive income from industrial pensions, real estate, investments or private insurance.

There is more to the picture. A Senate committee found early this year that 34 per cent of the 65 and over group lived in dwellings considered substandard.

The committee also found the old folks were hard put to pay for medical care.

So far neither major political party has made a concerted effort to bring these people — and their votes — into camp, though the Democrats have been talking around the fringes.

If they did it would be a toughy for the opposition. Nobody likes to vote against helping the old folks. That would be almost like voting for sin and against motherhood.

Hemorrhoids One of Most Widespread of Disorders

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Certainly piles, or hemorrhoids, constitute one of our most common afflictions. If I fail to discuss this subject for a short time I soon receive many inquiries similar to that from R. S., who asks for an explanation of hemorrhoids, whether they are always painful and whether they can cause cancer.

To answer the specific questions first, they are often but not always painful. There is no reason to believe that hemorrhoids increase the chances of developing cancer.

It is probably not possible to point at any single cause for hemorrhoids. Certainly one cannot give any vaccine or institute any other preventive measure which will insure their nonappearance.

Chronic constipation, a persistent cough, childbirth, and other forms of strain may contribute to the development of piles.

It is possible, too, that the sedentary occupations involving sitting for long hours in a chair have something to do with their development.

What are piles? They consist of enlarged or dilated veins known as hemorrhoidal veins lying around the exit of the digestive tract.

It would seem that anything which increases the pressure of the blood passing through them would be likely eventually to weaken the walls of the veins so that they would remain permanently enlarged. Occasionally clots form in them which are extremely painful.

Once present, what is the treatment?

It is true that sometimes the veins become temporarily greatly enlarged and then may return to normal, or almost so. This happens quite often after childbirth, for example.

But if the piles are permanent and are causing bleeding, itching or discomfort (all of which are common) the best treatment is usually surgery. This involves cutting out or tying the enlarged veins — or both.

Injecting them with an irritating fluid which causes them to close up is sometimes done but this is not always advisable.

When a person with hemorrhoids

Some Things Parents Can Learn From Teen-Agers

These are some of the things you learn from having a house that is a neighborhood hangout for teen-agers:

That it is the shy boy who likes the most talkative, vivacious girls. He is scared to death of getting stuck with a girl who is as quiet as he is.

That any mother who wants her daughter to be popular with boys can't make a better investment than a ping-pong table. Boys have a way of congregating where they have something to do with their feet and hands than sit in a living room.

That teen-agers are easily handled if a mother has a few house rules and makes them stick. Furthermore, she is respected for not being "too easy."

That what every teen-ager seems to want most, next to a car, is a telephone in his own room. Teen-age telephone conversations are very private affairs.

Surplus Deal With India Has Foreign Aid Aspects

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — The much-touted 300 million dollar "sale" of U. S. agricultural commodities to India, in final analysis, may turn out to be another well-meant device that ends up by losing the taxpayers' money. Some 5 million dollars of the "purchase price" will be given to India outright as thinly disguised foreign aid.

Announcement of this agreement in Washington and New Delhi billed it as the biggest deal ever negotiated for disposal of U. S. farm surpluses.

This is true, although only about 30 per cent of the wheat India gets will come from government surpluses. The other 70 per cent will be new wheat, purchased on the open market.

If all the commodities going to India under this deal came from U. S. Commodity Credit Corporation holdings, their cost to the government would be reckoned at from 500 to 600 million dollars.

Sold for 300 million dollars, this would represent a 40 to 50 per cent loss, which is quite a discount.

In addition, the United States will pay from 54 to 60 million dollars shipping charges to get rid of the stuff.

The sale is not for dollars, but for Indian rupees.

Approximately 235 million dollars' worth of the rupees will be immediately loaned to India at still undisclosed terms. Some 55 million dollars of this must be used to aid small, private business in India's socialist economy.

Another 55 million dollars' worth of rupees will be given to India as outright grants.

The final 10 million dollars' worth of rupees, more or less, may be used to pay the expenses of U. S. diplomatic and technical missions in India, or to buy strategic materials like magnesium for U. S. stockpiles.

The deal has two principal points in its favor. It gets rid of sizable quantities of U. S. farm surpluses which cost money to store. In the case of the new wheat going into the deal, it will prevent this grain from moving into surplus stocks which would cost still more money to store.

Ball Point Pens At Sedalia Post Office

When you now visit the Sedalia post office to write a postcard, letter or address a package to go through the mails you will find in the desks at the lobby new ball point pens that have replaced ones that were often scratchy, blunt or in a condition it was difficult to write legibly.

The old time pens and ink wells that frequently became almost dry have vanished and Postmaster Maurice Hogan is happy over the change that had been ordered by Postmaster general Arthur Summerfield as it relieves custodial helpers of changing pen points, filling ink wells and often "mopping" up when spillage resulted from one being overturned.

Oh yes, patrons will not be tempted to inadvertently slip one of the new pens in their pocket as they might do with a pencil that had been borrowed as they are anchored by a small chain.

understands what is wrong he will not be so likely to expect some simple treatment. There are a lot of these veins and no person with piles has them all enlarged. Consequently, if the veins which are enlarged are cut out, tied or injected it is possible that others will dilate and cause trouble later. For this reason it is wise to try to identify and correct if possible any factors such as constipation or coughing which may have brought them on.

Peaceful Israel Pastures Belie Tension

(Editors: Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to his grandson, Drew Arnold, written from Israel.)

Tel Aviv, September 17, 1966

Dear Drew,

The other day I went to a farm in Israel not far from the border of Jordan. Jordan, as you may know from your Sunday School, is now an Arab country, while Israel is Jewish.

There isn't much of a border between them and when I interviewed a Jewish tractor driver on his farm in Israel, the wind blew the fertilizer dust from his fertilizer spreader across the border and helped to improve the soil of Arab Jordan. He was spreading fertilizer on his farm just as we do in Maryland, only his land was so rocky that we wouldn't even have considered farming it in Maryland.

Across the border in Jordan were some Arab children tending a flock of sheep. There were no fences, and the sheep, who don't know much about international borders, would have walked right over into Israel except that the little Arab girls didn't let them.

The little Arab girls didn't seem worried about the Jewish tractor driver. They were so close that they could talk to the tractor driver, but they were all just as peaceful as the sheep herding you've read about in the Bible, thousands of years ago.

I was interviewing the Jewish tractor driver, whose name was Amos, when two little Arab boys peeked over the brow of the hill to see what we were doing. They were about your age, and after peeking at our camera and TV equipment they disappeared.

Trigger Happy Arabs

Pretty soon, two members of the Arab legion, which is the Jordan army, appeared on top of the hill and pointed their rifles at us. They didn't shoot, but they waved with their rifles for us to get away. I suppose they were suspicious of our TV equipment and thought we might be setting up machine-gun nests.

We were on Israel territory and within our rights, but we didn't argue. We left. It doesn't pay to argue when guns are pointed at you. Besides, we had finished our work.

I got to thinking about this afterward as an illustration of what the holy land, the land where the Man was born who preached peace, today faces.

The little Arab girls tending their flocks had nothing against the Jewish tractor driver just a few yards away. But the Arab legionnaires, who are trained to fight, were suspicious.

That is what is happening in the holy land. The people on both sides of the border want peace. But some of the leader's don't. The Arabs who live in Israel have peace. There are about 180,000 of them in Israel and they get along fine with the Jews. I talked to many of them and they work well together and live peaceably together.

Hate Mongers At Work

But the Arab leaders on the other side of the border stir up suspicion and hatred. It helps them politically, just as some politicians in the United States stir up the segregation issue because it helps them get elected.

Driving back from the border to Tel Aviv, I passed an Arab village named Jat. Outside was a well, several thousands years old, and Arab women were carrying water from the well to the village on their heads just as Rebecca did when Abraham sought a wife for Isaac many years ago.

And I couldn't help but think that if some of the Jewish people, not the government, should dig a trench and lay a pipe from the well into the village as an act of friendship, it would save those Arab women from carrying water and might break down some of this suspicion between Arabs and Jews. For word would go back behind the Arab iron curtain to Jordan, telling how the Jewish people were helping the Arabs.

I remember how the Quakers, the religious group your grandfather belongs to, dug a two-mile trench and laid a pipe into a Mexican village near Tampico which never had had water before.

It wasn't only that they brought water to a village that had never had water, it was that young Quakers bent their backs and dug the trench themselves that impressed the Mexicans and won a lot of friendship for the United States.

Jews Want Peace

The Jewish people are doing a wonderful job here. They are building a great country, and they are being fair to the Arab people inside their borders. They also want peace with the Arab people outside their borders.

But they need to worry more over the little boys about your age who peered down over the hill at me and then ran off to tell the Arab legion about our taking pictures at the bottom of the hill.

Those little boys, if we are not careful, will grow up to spread more suspicion and hate. And if that happens there will be war or the threat of war for years to come in a land that was dedicated to peace.

I will write you soon about the camels I saw wandering loose near the dead sea. They didn't seem to belong to anybody, and they didn't have much to eat.

Lots of Love
Grandfather

Safety Post-Mortems

After every big U. S. holiday weekend, the debate rages anew over what to do about the highway death toll. Some of the lines of attack are obvious, and progress is being made. The roads themselves must be engineered for greater safety, with plenty of space, ample sight distances, the fewest possible number of friction points like intersection and side roads.

More safety has to be built into the cars we drive, and 1955 brought the first notable advances in this field. Current congressional investigations have tended to focus fresh attention on this need.

Stiffer enforcement of traffic laws is continuously urged and now the cry is heard more strongly than ever. The argument made here is that, in the end, the human factor is the key in automobile accidents.

Many highway experts would agree, and they call for better and broader driver training as well as tight enforcement.

But there is still another aspect to the human equation in highway traffic which seldom is spoken of. It involves the real fitness—physical, emotional and mental—of many people to drive cars at all.

The average road test given prospective drivers in most states checks only the crude abilities of the motorist—his execution of simple hand signals, turning, stopping, starting, parking, and moving along at usually slow speed in traffic which may vary from light to heavy.

But the road conditions a driver may encounter over a year's time actually put him to far sterner test, and no one, not even he, may be sure until he is tried whether he can meet these situations or not.

The blunt fact is that handling a modern motor car properly call for some physical strength, a high degree of alertness, and eye-hand-foot coordination which must be developed to the level of a genuine skill.

Now it is just not in the nature of things that every man or woman or youngster who plants himself behind a wheel will have these vital attributes in the requisite amount. By the same token, every person who picks up a golf club or tennis racket or power tool will not necessarily be equipped to handle it skillfully.

On top of this is the whole question of an individual's emotional stability, his physical reactions in a crisis, and so on. For the possession of the proper skills and basic physical attributes will avail him little if they tend to desert him in case of trouble.

In the hands of the unfit, the powerful car of 1956 is potentially a weapon of death, as traffic statistics plainly show. The opinion of some specialists is that the measure of real driving fitness today is far too lax for the road conditions which exist. They would say that until tests are made toughly realistic one great cause of highway accidents will not be eradicated.

RALEIGH (N. C.) NEWS-OBSERVER: Problem People. One of the points proposed in a new Postoffice department program to protect postmen from dog bites is: "Education of Owners of Problem Dogs."

This is truly an ambitious program. Nine hundred and ninety-nine times out of a thousand there is no such thing as a "problem dog" without a problem owner. Educating people who keep "problem dogs" would probably be a much more difficult job than educating the dogs.

Undoubtedly there are dogs which are just naturally mean-tempered. They take a natural pleasure in biting folks—notably postmen in the summertime. But any thorough study of this matter would show that bad dogs are more often result of human environment than canine heredity.

If the Postoffice Department can educate the people, the dogs will not need to be feared.

Founded 103 Years Ago—

Yeager Union Church Will Hold Reunion September 30

The Yeager Union Church on the Lake of the Ozarks near Lakeside Estates resort, south of Edmondson, will hold its fifth annual homecoming on Sunday, Sept. 30. The homecoming will start with church services at 10 a. m. and continue until 3 o'clock that afternoon.

A basket picnic dinner is to be served at noon to be followed with services in the afternoon, to be conducted by the pastor Rev. O. Heimsoth.

The dates for the homecoming were changed to September 30 to avoid conflicting dates with other churches in the area which are usually held the early part of October.

The Yeager Union Church was founded 103 years ago in 1853 and served the area for many years and up until about thirty years ago. After the Lakeside Estates resort had been established and people began to retire from business and work to move into that area, a number of residents at Lakeside decided to re-establish the church.

The residents at Lakeside investigated and took over the little church with its cemetery overgrown with weeds and brush and the church building almost beyond repair. They enlisted the aid of the people in the community, who had almost forgotten the church property and were attending services elsewhere.

After several meetings they had the old building straightened up and a few necessary repairs made to make it usable again. That was in the latter part of 1950. Then they began their program of remodeling and in 1952 the little building served as the nucleus for the beautiful little sandstone church now being used.

The past year, the congregation having grown in such proportions and the Sunday School getting larger and larger, it was decided to build an annex. This building was completed only recently and connects with the main church building so that it can also be used for church services.

A new deep well was drilled and water is plentiful, which was tested and found to be exceptionally good well water, as to purification.

The members of the church now refer to it as our little "Church in the Wilderness."

After completion of the first remodeling, the first homecoming was held in 1952 with a large return to the area of former farm residents of that section of Benton County. Each year the homecoming has been held and each year it has grown.

The members of the committee in charge are planning this year on the largest gathering yet to be assembled.

Officers of the church are the Rev. Heimsoth, pastor; Tom Bradley, president emeritus; Glenn Glazier, president; James A. Shaffer, vice-president; Mrs. Mary E. Hayes, secretary-treasurer emerita, and Mrs. Bert Glazier, secretary-treasurer.

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Friday, Sept. 21, 1956

Christian Church Will Observe 'Loyalty Month'

Highlighted by the 17th annual observance of Worldwide Communion Sunday on Oct. 7, the First Christian Church in Sedalia joins countless other congregations in embarking on a program of special recognition to Church Loyalty Month, designated as October and embracing the five Sundays starting with Sept. 30 and continuing through Oct. 28.

Particular emphasis is placed upon attendance, service and dedication, with all departments directing efforts to the realization of the Church Loyalty Month objectives, which include every member attendance during the period, member responsibility for special guests, daily devotions, church school attendance and an every-member crusade for the performance of some church responsibility.

Church of Christ Is Building New Structure

The Church of Christ at 14th and Stewart in Sedalia has under construction a new building to replace the one used by that congregation for a number of years.

The old building is to stand and be used until the new one is completed and later, according to plans, the old building will be taken away and the new one extended to cover the entire lot. When all is finished the building will be large enough to take care of several hundred people in the services of the church.

U. R. Forrest, who came to this congregation about six months ago, is the regular minister. He is also editor and publisher of a religious magazine with a circulation that covers the entire United States and parts of other countries.

The new building will be of brick and concrete. The part now under construction is to be finished within the next 60 days.

United Youth Group To Hold Clothing Drive September 29

The United Christian Youth Movement of Pettis County, composed of youth from a large number of the Protestant Churches of Sedalia, will conduct a clothing drive in Sedalia on Saturday, Sept. 29. This clothing will be shipped to Church World Service in St. Louis, where it will be sent to areas of need in the world. Any good, used, clean clothing for any age person is acceptable. Please have your clothing ready when the young people call.

Campbell to Preach At Wesley Church

The Rev. H. U. Campbell, former pastor of the Fifth Street Methodist Church, will direct the services Sunday morning at the Wesley Methodist Church while the pastor, the Rev. Lee F. Soxman, is on vacation. The choir's anthem will be "Praise Ye the Father."

Two 'Bums' Losses Also Needed—

Braves Would Have to Win Last Seven for Pennant Hope

The Associated Press

Are the Braves breathing?

Like a man with asthma.

They have to roll a seven to hold any real hope for the National League pennant. And after losing 2-1 to Pittsburgh in 10 innings yesterday, even winning all their seven remaining games won't guarantee a thing for the Braves — who have been able to win as many as three in a row only once in the last two weeks.

Even by winning all seven, Milwaukee can't gain as much as a tie for the pennant unless Brooklyn's world champion Dodgers lose two of their remaining nine.

The Braves, beginning to hear the jingle of another world series payoff, have won nine of their last 11 and took a full-game lead while idle yesterday.

The Braves had to battle from behind yesterday against Bob Friend, who gave just four hits but almost missed his 16th victory when two errors on one play by first baseman Dole Long gave Milwaukee the tying run in the ninth. Then Roberto Clemente tagged reliever Ray Crone for a two-out single. Billy Bruton just couldn't get to center field and Bill Mazeroski scrambled home with the winner.

The only hits off Friend, winning his first since Aug. 26 and defeating the Braves a third time this season, were fifth and 10th inning singles by Johnny Logan, Hank Aaron's single and Bobby Thomson's double, both in the seventh. Logan's first single came with two out in the fifth — after Friend had retired the first 14 men in order.

Buhl was in on this one, too. Giving three hits — one Jack Shepard's seventh home run in the seventh inning — before being lifted for a pinch-hitter in the 9th.

Going into a four-game series at Pittsburgh tonight, the Dodgers now are 3-1 favorites to win the pennant. It's 8-1 the race won't end in a tie.

It's Sal Maglie (11-4) against Ron Kline (13-16) with Sal seeking his seventh straight success and third in Brooklyn's current surge which has brought them to the top from a third place, two-games-behind deficit two weeks ago.

After the four with the Pirates, beaten 9-6 so far by the Dodgers, Brooklyn returns to Ebbets Field for two with Philadelphia (8-12) vs the champs and a windup three with the Bucs.

Milwaukee, playing just .500 ball in the past two weeks (7-7) sends old reliable Warren Spahn (18-10) against bonus kid Don Kaiser (3-9) as the Cubs close the Braves' home season with three this week-end. The Braves, 11-8 vs the last place Cubs, play one at Cincinnati Tuesday (they're 12-9 against the Redlegs) then finish the season with three at St. Louis (7-12) vs Milwaukee.

Cincinnati, facing elimination if either Brooklyn or Milwaukee win five more even if the Redlegs win all of their remaining seven, send Joe Nuxhall (12-11) against St. Louis' Wilmer Mizell (14-12) in the first of four tonight. The Redlegs are 9-9 with St. Louis. Cincy is at home at St. Louis and Milwaukee, then finishes at Chicago (6-14) vs the Reds next week.

In the American, the pennant-clinching New York Yankees want only a 20th victory for Whitey Ford, (19-5), some more home runs and a bat title for Mickey Mantle and three more runs batted in for Yogi Berra, who then will have 1,000 for his career. It's Don Larsen vs Willard Nixon to night at Boston for the Yankees — already favored to win the World Series.

The only "race" in the AL is for second and fourth place. Cleveland holds second by 1 1/2 games over Chicago. Boston has the same hold on fourth over Detroit. The Tribe plays Detroit this weekend while the Red Sox play the Yanks and Chicago meets Kansas City.

The total, however, will be well below the 10,388,470 drawn in 1947 when baseball and all other sports profited by a post-war boom in attendance.

Prior to World War II, the greatest attendance the league ever had was 5,446,532 in 1930.

Three clubs — Milwaukee, Brooklyn and Cincinnati — already have passed the million mark for this year and Milwaukee needs only 63,796 paid customers in its remaining game to reach the two-million figure.

St. Louis needs only 39,967 in its last three games at home to reach the million mark.

Countryview Tourney Into Final Stages

All Three Flights Reach Quarterfinal Or Semifinal Play

The club championship of Countryview Golf Course has advanced to the quarterfinals and semifinals stages in each of the three flights while in flight "A" the champion is expected to be decided over the weekend.

In the recent flight "A" golf matches Sam Watson defeated John Cryan in the second round. 1-up. Watson then coasted into the semifinals only to be cut down by Frank Reynolds, 4-and-3, who had previously ousted Fred Evans by an 8-and-6 margin.

In the lower bracket of that flight Clayton Craig drew a bye to the quarterfinals and went on to win over Al Swihart 4-and-3. Swihart earlier eliminated Tommy Austin 6-and-5. Meanwhile, Bob Moss edged Hughie Johnston 2-and-1 and then moved into the semifinals on a bye. Craig and Moss will probably play the remaining semifinals match on Saturday with the winner likely to play Reynolds on Sunday in the 36-hole finals for the championship.

Only one second round match remained in flight "B" between Bob Wall and W. C. Ream. Two other second round duels saw Al Fabry put away Fred Crnic 3-and-2 while Capt. H. E. Willoughby got past Russ Thomas 6-and-4. George Thompson took a close one from Fred Wertz 2-and-1 and advanced to the semifinals via a bye. Ray Spalding gained a quarterfinal berth against Jack Alpert by crushing Tom Steinele 6-and-5. Alpert slipped past Bill Watson 1-up in second round play.

A pair of quarterfinal matches are pending in "C" flight while on each end of the bracket Bob Barbour and Bill Brown have already nailed down semifinal spots. Barbour earlier whipped Frank Hanigan 6-and-5 in second round play and rode into the semifinals with a bye. Brown also drew a bye after a 17-hole victory over L. O. Griffith, 2-and-1. The quarterfinals places C. M. Huddleston, who beat Larry Blatterman in the second round, against Jerry Rymer who received a bye; Bill Johnson and Gardner Rogers oppose after each gained byes.

The eventual champion in each flight will be awarded a beautiful trophy.

Bob Toski Holds Lead In Oklahoma City Golf Tournament

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Scramble seemed to be the byword in the $15,000 Oklahoma City golf tournament today as a field of 135 sought to master par over the tough-playing Twin Hills Country Club course.

Holding a one-stroke lead was 29-year-old Bob Toski, of Holyoke Mass., who shot a four-under par 68 yesterday.

Two solid performances came from Bill Nary and Billy Casper with their 3-under par 69's.

Knob Noster Dog Wins Final Race in Kansas

Brown Bullard, a dog owned by Prentis Bullard, Knob Noster, formerly of Sedalia, was the final race winner of a $1,000 race at Fall Rivers, Kan., on Sept. 9. He won a nice trophy and the final winnings.

7-6, in contrast to their easy 13-1 victory in the first game of their final best-of-seven series.

Indians Lead Denver Two Games in Playoff

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indianapolis Indians, regular season champions of the American Assn., are two up on Denver in their championship playoff.

Big Seven Conference Fans Can Debate Alternating Team

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Football fans in the Big Seven Conference will have plenty of opportunity this year to debate the pros and cons of the alternating team system.

It has been used successfully at Oklahoma the last two seasons. Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado and Kansas State will also use the system this year. None, however, appear to have the depth necessary to give them a large measure of success.

Cochin Bus Mertes at Kansas State has plenty of backfield depth with 9 lettermen on hand but is shy of experience and weight for a strong alternating line. Mertes plans to use his alternating team sparingly with no set pattern.

The veteran Dal Ward, head coach at Colorado, also plans to use alternating teams but has no definite pattern in mind for employing the system.

The Buffaloes will also operate with a multiple offense this fall.

Primarily a single wing team in the past, Ward expects to use the single wing, straight T and split-T formations about equally.

Nebraska's fortunes will be guided by the youngest coach in Cornhusker history.

And 29-year-old Pete Elliott, former assistant to Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma, believes the two-team system is a prime requisite in modern football.

From tackle to tackle, Elliott is deep in experience and left.

But the Huskers have only two lettermen returning in the backfield. They are quarterback Don Erway and halfback Willie Greenlaw. Both will be on the sidelines Saturday. Greenlaw is recovering from a sprained ankle and Erway has not been able to work at all this fall because of knee trouble.

Cochin Bus Mertes at Kansas has announced he intends to alternate his two teams every 7 or 8 minutes.

Mather, who is in his third year at Kansas, has a squad loaded with sophomores and juniors but still lacks the necessary experience.

Missouri and Iowa State have on occasion used alternating teams but very sparingly.

Tomorrow's games will provide a good test for the system with Kansas playing powerful Texas Christian University at Lawrence; Colorado meeting Oregon at Boulder; Kansas State at Manhattan against Oklahoma A&M; Nebraska at Lincoln for South Dakota, and Missouri playing Oregon State at Columbia.

TV Series Has Welcome Scene Change

NEW YORK (AP)—A lady asks irritably if I ever liked any half-hour filmed program on television.
Why, yes, Madame, my personal favorite is "Crunch and Des," a package filmed series currently appearing on more than 150 TV stations around the country. It glues me to the set on its weekly appearance over a local station.
"Crunch and Des" is based on Philip Wylie's grand Saturday Evening Post stories about a couple of Florida fishermen and their boat, the Poseidon, and the interesting characters who enter their lives. It's an authentic, credible, absorbing series free of hackneyed plot twists and cornball situations.
For one thing, "Crunch and Des" takes you out of doors and out to sea instead of to that western range where so many cowboys roam on television. For another, its well-paced action is firmly based in the characters of Crunch and Des themselves.
Crunch is more a man of action. Des is more a man of imagination. Together they round out a unity of what every man would be. When they board an apparently deserted boat belonging to a rival and find its crew mysteriously missing, Des is enraptured by the mystery of the sea and talks of giant squid no man has seen. But Crunch remains on the boat and becomes involved in a knock-down slugfest with the paranoid skipper who has been hounding him. The man of action is triumphant.

If last week's premiere of "On Trial" over NBC-TV (Friday, 9 p.m., EDT) is typical of this season's course, it's a very average half-hour weekly package film series indeed.
The initial offering concerned a noted Scots physician at the turn of the century who was accused of poisoning his wife and mother-in-law. He really did it, but throughout the course of the film the audience was led to believe someone else did it by every plot and camera trick that Hollywood has been using since "Birth of a Nation."
They could fool the audience, but by golly they couldn't fool a jury of 12 Scotsmen. They knew the doctor had done it and he was sentenced to swing for it. Just before he did swing, he confessed that he really had done it—in a fit of boredom.

Girl Scouts Raise Orphaned Rabbits Found on Camp Trip

Last summer out at Girl Scout Camp Harry Lambirth was running the mower and dug up a nest of baby rabbits that their mother thought was securely hidden in the hole she had made in the ground under the weeds. He was sorry, still he was certain the mother rabbit would come back after her babies, but she didn't.
The Girl Scouts watched. Those babies were hungry and needed care, so Harry dug up an eye dropper out of a First Aid kit and three of the girls adopted the rabbits, each one taking a baby rabbit.

The little bunnies thrived on the milk from the eye dropper and when the three girls, Mary Alice (Punky) McLaughlin, daughter of

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Friday, Sept. 22, 1956

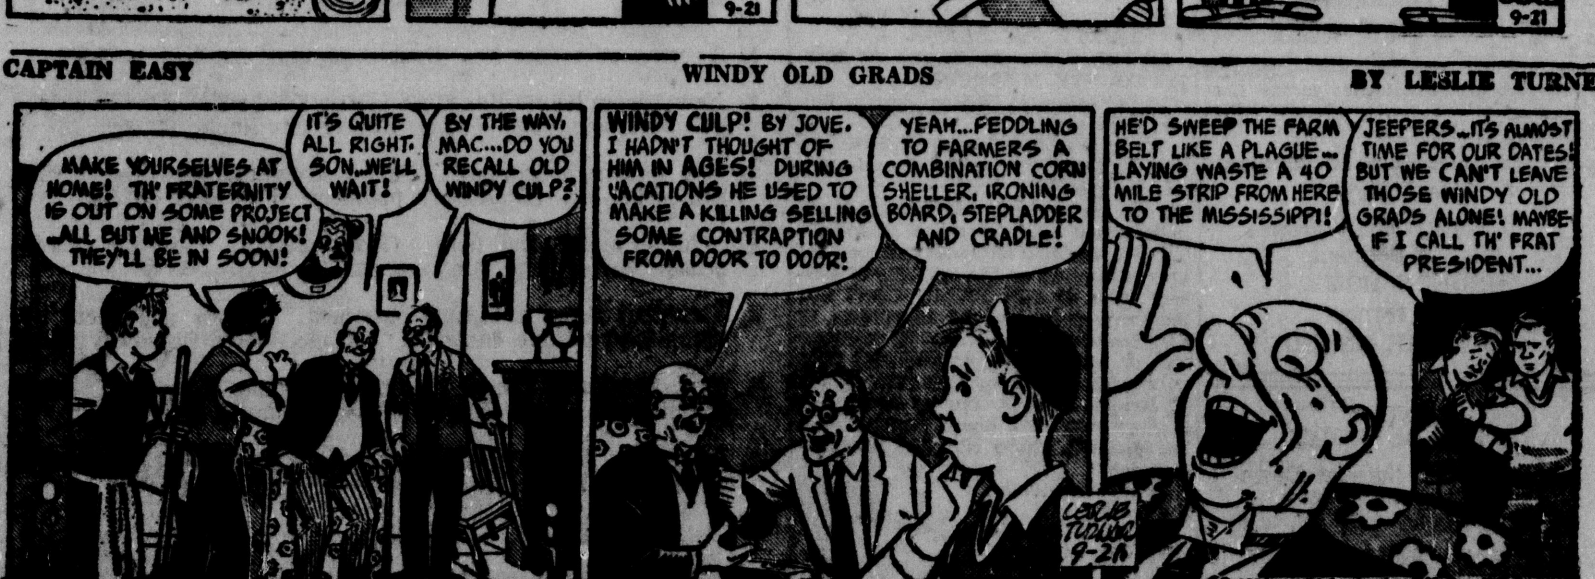

Mr. and Mrs. Philip McLaughlin; Judy Gardner, daughter of Mrs. Mary Gardner and Janet Morris, daughter of Mrs. Lode Morris, were ready to go home from Girl Scout Camp they just had to take the baby rabbits with them. That was during the summer and the rabbits just grew and grew. Some thing happened to Janet's rabbit, but Punky and Judy still have theirs and now they are such great fellows, no longer on an eye dropper milk diet, but eat anything that is given them. So the little Girl Scouts did their good deeds and raised the little orphaned baby rabbits.

Hometown Museum Lacks Violin By Stradivarius

CREMONA, Italy (AP)—Of all places, in the town where Antonius Stradivarius Cremonensis produced more than 1,000 of his legendary violins, you cannot find a single Stradivarius.

A local museum displays a special section devoted to Stradivarius and two local musicians, Claudio Monteverdi and Amilcare Ponchielli. Collected behind glass panels are the manuscripts of the violin maker, the tools, the paper and wood models he used in his long life, but nothing else. The only violins shown are a "false" Stradivarius and instruments built by his pupil, Carlo Bergonzi.

"You can find Stradivarius instruments in Britain and in the United States, even in India," the guide says sadly, "but not here."

Most violins built by Stradivarius left Cremona in his lifetime, ordered by Italian princes and nobles as gifts to foreign courts.

Soon after Stradivarius' death in 1737, bidding started to secure his celebrated instruments, which were re-sold in France, Britain, Holland and elsewhere.

In the first half of the past century many false Stradivarius were already on the market, bearing the Latin label, "Antonius Stradivarius Cremonensis faciebat."

Experts now say that genuine labels often went with false violins and vice versa. This was a sly trick by merchants, who thus sold both label and violin separately.

Newspapers still announce the discovery of an unknown Stradivarius now and then.

"Out of 100 such reports, one may be true," says Pietro Tatar, who teaches violin making at the International School of Violin Making located in the town.

"There is no secret about the Stradivarius," Tatar says, "unless you want to call a secret the painstaking care with which the old magician chose aged wood, applied his techniques and followed each stage of the production. He did not care how much time each instrument required."

"There is an old legend that the old violin maker had a secret recipe for his varnishes, but the same varnishes can be produced today. All details of the instruments have been thoroughly studied, and there is no secret left," he adds.

"There are other reasons why they are so valuable today. They were among the first 'modern' violins."

High School Gives First TV Program

By SHARON ALCORN

Smith-Cotton High School presented its first television program here Monday night. This is the first in a series called "Tattletale" produced and directed by Mr. Robert Owens of Smith-Cotton. This show is designed to let the people of the city know what the Sedalia schools are doing.

Opening music, "Hail Alma Mater" was supplied by the Smith-Cotton Band, directed by Mrs. Carl Schrader. The opening shot was of a typical school room with Richard Simons of Jefferson Grade School seated on a stool as a dunce. Richard was picked for the roll because he was the highest-ranking boy in his class.

Mr. Owens served as master of ceremonies. First he discussed some problems of school administration with Mr. Forrest Drake, Smith-Cotton principal.

Mr. Pinkney Miller was questioned concerning his duties as vice principal and instructor in a class called C.O.E.

Two members of the faculty were interviewed concerning what their departments were doing. Miss Gray and Mr. Jaeger. Miss Gray discussed the aims and plans of the Social Science department while Mr. Jaeger discussed the study of the natural sciences at Smith-Cotton.

The band then played a number with two of S-C's twirlers, Patsy Higgins and Kay Harlan, majorities, twirling.

Coch Ralph "Stub" Dow was then introduced and he gave his opinion of Smith-Cotton's so called "green team", which play St. Joseph Central Friday night at the Jennie Jaynes Stadium.

Mr. Owens explained the function of the student government, then introduced the candidates for Activity Queen and the class presidents.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Doctors administered Salk polio vaccine to almost 10,000 airmen at Lackland Air Force Base yesterday. Maj. Gen. John H. McCormick ordered the shots for all military personnel after five officers were stricken with paralytic polio. The general was one of the first vaccinated.

Rhode Island Changes Public Housing Policy

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—Gov. Dennis J. Roberts (D) says that changes in the state's public housing policy "will rapidly eliminate any remaining evidence of segregation and produce total integration." He told the Newport branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People that Negroes segregated in public housing projects will be given first choice of units in other parts of the projects as soon as they become available.

Man Claims Special Sausage-Making Know How in Law Suit

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A man who says he has sausage-making know-how ground out a $250,000 breach-of-contract suit against a local meat processing firm.

John Richt alleged that the Klarer Provision Co. terminated his services last month after other employees learned his secret technique for making sausage. He said he entered the sausage trade 37 years ago and that the firm hired him last September. Richt claimed he was to receive $150 weekly for life plus one-fourth of a cent on all production over 50,000 pounds a week.

Adlai Replies To Ike

Says He Gave 'Misleading Implications'

SILVER SPRING, Md., Sept. 20.—(P)—Adlai Stevenson said tonight President Eisenhower stated "only half the facts" and gave "misleading implications" in his first major address of the campaign yesterday.

Stevenson replied to the President in an address prepared for a rally in this suburban Washington community.

Urges US Lead in Peace

The Democratic presidential nominee reiterated his view—challenged by implication by Eisenhower—that the United States "take the lead" in halting hydrogen bomb tests and consider whether the draft may be ended in the "foreseeable" future.

Eisenhower said in a coast-to-coast radio-TV address last night that 1. the draft cannot be abandoned under present world conditions and 2. ending H-bomb tests would be a "theoretical national gesture."

Stevenson said the President expressed "this country's passion for peace" in a manner befitting his office.

Differ on Peace Prospects

But he took issue with his opponent not only on the draft and H-bomb questions but on Eisenhower's whole contention that peace prospects are relatively bright under the Republican administration. "I think it unfortunate," Stevenson said, "that he chose again to state only half the facts."

The Democratic nominee disputed Eisenhower's argument that Viet Nam has been saved from communism, that Formosa was "written off" by the Truman administration. And he said Eisenhower in his speech "left out any reference to the ominous tensions which today mark Africa and the Middle East."

Era of Peace An 'Illusion'

Stevenson said the President on his return from the Geneva conference "encouraged the happy illusion" that a new era of world peace had begun.

"But later events quickly shattered those rosy predictions," Stevenson declared.

He said Eisenhower's "passing reference" to the Suez crisis in last night's speech "gave no hint of the awesome fact that within the past few months, Russia has gained the foothold in the Middle East she has sought for centuries."

"I do not believe," Stevenson went on, "that a political campaign excuses the President himself from a more objective candor about the state of affairs in the world."

Mobile X-Ray Unit Will Come Here Saturday

Saturday is the day that the mobile chest X-ray unit will come to Sedalia and will be located at the courthouse until the following Saturday, Sept. 29.

Located in the courthouse this free service will be given to people of the community from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. each day. It takes but a few minutes and there is no disrobing.

Chest X-ray is the sure way of knowing whether you have tuberculosis or not, and the chances are 50 to 1 the report will be good.

First you register, giving your name and address and the name and address of your doctor. Then remove your coat, metal objects in shirt pockets or jewelry, step up to the machine, the technician will tell you to take a deep breath and hold it, the X-ray is taken and that is all.

Should there be a bad report, it will still be good if the disease is in the early stages because it means that treatment may be started at once and chances of recovery are excellent.

This service is made possible through the Pettis County TB Association and the Missouri State Health Division.

The Weather

CENTRAL MISSOURI — Fair and warmer today, partly cloudy tonight with scattered showers likely; Saturday partly cloudy and cooler; high today in upper 80's.

The temperature Thursday at 7 a. m. was 50; 74 at 1 p. m. and 75 at 2 p. m. Low Wednesday night 48.

Man Allegedly Shot Trooper, Held for Trial

Bail for Captured Fugitive Fixed at $25,000 in Lebanon

LEBANON, Mo., Sept. 20.—(P)—Ronald Westberg, 20, Chicago fugitive who was trapped near here yesterday, waived preliminary hearing today on a charge of assault with intent to kill a state trooper and was ordered held for trial at the term of circuit court opening Oct. 1.

Westberg made two appearances before Magistrate W. I. Mayfield. At his first arraignment, he was ordered held for preliminary hearing Oct. 15. His bail was fixed at $25,000 and he was returned to jail in lieu of bond.

Later in the day, he asked to be taken before Judge Mayfield again in order to waive the preliminary hearing. He appeared both times without legal counsel.

Wounded Detaining Trooper

Apparent effect of the move will be to insure an early trial of the Chicagoan who is charged with seriously wounding State Trooper M. E. Tinnin. Tinnin, who stopped Westberg for a minor traffic violation, was shot in the back, the neck and the leg. At a Springfield hospital today, his condition was reported "fairly good."

Westberg fled on foot into a woods after the shooting and was captured after an all-day hunt participated in by three planes and more than 100 officers on foot. (Please turn to Page 8, Column 1.)

Senator Gore Will Address Rally on Friday

Friday night the Pettis County Democratic Committee opens its 1956 campaign with a rally on the west lawn of the courthouse, at which time United States Senator Albert Gore, Tennessee, will be the principal and only speaker on the program. The meeting will begin at 8 p. m.

Senator Gore, junior Senator of Tennessee, is also making a visit to Sedalia to attend the stock sale of Black Angus cattle at the ranch of E. W. Thompson on Highway 50 west of Sedalia on Saturday.

Senator Gore has a large stock farm at Carthage, Tenn., near Nashville.

John C. McCloskey, county chairman, upon learning of Senator Gore's planned visit to Sedalia, invited him to come early and give the talk at the opening rally. The Senator, well versed on national and foreign affairs, immediately accepted.

It was Senator Gore's withdrawal as a nominee for vice-president at the recent national Democratic convention which began the bandwagon stampede to U. S. Senator Estes Kefauver, the senior Senator from Tennessee.

Government Takes Control of Paris Bakeries on Strike

PARIS (P)—A bakers' strike kept bread off most Paris breakfast tables today, but the government moved swiftly to get ovens producing again.

By noon some 80 bakeries had opened their doors after being served with government requisition orders.

The orders—meaning the authorities were taking control of staffs and stocks of flour—were issued after some 5,000 Paris bakers voted yesterday to strike for higher prices. Price controls have kept the price of bread here at 45 francs—about 14 cents—a pound. The bakers want at least 46 francs.

Jail St. Louis Negro On Narcotics Charge

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20.—(P)—Ezra Harris, a St. Louis Negro with a previous record of conviction for operating a policy racket game, today received a four-year penitentiary sentence on a narcotics charge.

Harris pleaded guilty before U. S. District Judge Roy W. Harper of possession of 209 grains of Heroin. He also was fined $1,000.

Charles against another Negro, Preston Vandervord, were dismissed after a government attorney said he felt a conviction could not be obtained from a jury.

On Tuesday, a Circuit Judge directed that a not guilty verdict be returned against him on a charge of receiving stolen property.

Yesterday, Harris was fined $400 after pleading guilty of feloniously occupying premises for the purposes of accepting bets at his home.

'S' Club Elects Delph President

New Officers Will Serve Two Years Instead of One

Jack Delph was elected president of the "S" Club at its annual fall business meeting Wednesday night at the Smith-Cotton cafeteria.

Jack Delph

Other officers elected were Charles Patterson, first vice-president; Barbara Arnold, second vice-president; Joan Lambirth, secretary; Jack Chambers, treasurer; Jim Durely, parliamentarian; Mary Jo Case, accompanist; Vesta Elliott, historian; Jerry Luchs, sergeant-at-arms; and Chester Eding, publicity.

All officers elected will serve a two-year term according to a change adopted at the meeting. Formerly the terms were one year. Also in the amendment was a provision to fill vacancies created by persons moving away.

Executive board members elected were Gib Owens and Virgil Herrick for three-year terms and Mrs. Virgil Corson for a one-year term.

John Harvey, outgoing president, introduced Coach Ralph Dow, who talked to the group about Smith-Cotton's football program.

A committee was chosen to make plans for the homecoming to be held on Oct. 26 when Smith-Cotton meets Jefferson City.

The "S" Club, made up of persons who received an "S" award in their senior year at Smith-Cotton, has been in existence 30 years. Wednesday night's roll call showed that there was someone present for every year except five.

Among the 105 attending the meeting were several faculty members from Sedalia schools. The club holds about three meetings a year, including the spring banquet, when the graduating seniors that have received "S" awards are initiated.

British Hang Three Greek Cypriot Rebels

Triple Execution For Murder Brings Anti-British Strike

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Friday, Sept. 21.—(P)—Three Greek Cypriot rebels were hanged by British authorities, at Nicosia Central Prison today for violence and murder.

A police official came out from behind the massive prison walls and told reporters the executions were carried out shortly before 2 a. m.

The men had been refused a reprieve. Long before the hour of the triple hanging, Greek Cypriots took on an islandwide strike.

New Violence There were new outbursts of anti-British violence, PEKA, a new underground organization, said in leaflets the strike would continue three days "in tribute to three more heroes."

Construction at a royal air force base at Akrotiri and a joint headquarters for Middle East Forces was slowed down by the strike. The island's Greek and English-language newspapers were shut down.

Bombing in Famagusta Three British soldiers were slightly wounded by bombs thrown at the east coast port of Famagusta, hotbed of EOKA activity.

The house of a security force member was the target of another bomb at Famagusta.

In Athens, Premier Konstantine Karamanlis and his Cabinet members stayed away from the American Ballet Theater premier because of the hangings, an authoritative source revealed. The premiere was given under American Embassy auspices.

Athens' Thursday newspaper headlines proclaimed "more innocent blood will be shed by the British."

The condemned men in last statements proclaimed their satisfaction that they had died for their country.

Donnelly Proclaims September 30 National Traffic Memorial Day

JEFFERSON CITY (P)—Gov. Phil M. Donnelly made another effort today to focus attention on the need for greater traffic safety.

He proclaimed Sunday, Sept. 30, as "National Traffic Memorial Day" and urged all citizens to pledge their help "to prevent further needless slaughter and maiming" on the highways.

Testify on Delinquency in Their Own Schools—Two School Heads Say More Fights, Theft, Police Calls Occurred Following Integration

By FRANK E. TAYLOR WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(P)—Two Washington school principals told House investigators today that racial integration of their schools was followed by a marked upturn in police calls, student pregnancies and disciplinary problems.

The school administrators gave their testimony at the second day of public hearings by a House District of Columbia subcommittee which is investigating the effect of integration on schools in the nation's capital.

Wilmer Bennett, principal of Hines Junior High School, said that after his school was integrated in the fall of 1954 there were "more fights . . . theft . . . bad language . . . loiterers."

And he said there were 10 student pregnancies at the school last year, compared with two or three during the first year of integration. He was not asked the race of the girls who became pregnant.

Free World Sea Powers Back Dulles Plan for Share in Suez

Support Canal Users Assn. Based on Justice With Peace

LONDON, Sept. 20.—(P)—The free world's main sea powers lined up tonight behind the modified Dulles plan to win back from Egypt a share in control of the Suez Canal.

Twelve nations at the 18-power conference here announced support for a Cooperative Assn. of Suez Canal Users—CASCU. This is incorporated in the program outlined by Secretary of State Dulles as being based on justice with peace.

Endorsed by 12 Nations

The 12 include the five countries that control 75 per cent of the world's shipping: Britain, Norway, France, Italy and the United States. The others are Australia, New Zealand, Netherlands, West Germany, Portugal, Spain and Turkey.

Pakistan alone refused outright to join.

Sweden, Denmark and Iran delayed a verdict on the plan but urged a quick review of the canal dispute by the U. N.

Japan and Ethiopia took no stand either way.

Decisions Not Final

No matter what decisions are made here, final decisions still rested with home governments of all the 18 envoys. They are supposed to be reached in the next 10 days. Dulles was reported certain that majority decisions would allow the association to be at work in two weeks. The conference ends Friday.

All nations at the conference expressed agreement in wanting international control. Some differed on how to achieve it. Fear that operation of the original plan would inadvertently set off war with Egypt lay behind some objections.

See Approval by at Least 16

Sources close to the Western Big Three delegations forecast that all except Pakistan, and possibly Sweden, would adopt the declaration of intention to set up the association. They said the only issue of substance among the rest is the precise timing of an appeal to the U. N.

These sources said a second declaration is also being considered: to deplore what they called the precipitate nature of Egypt's canal move and reaffirming the 18 nations' support for international control.

Pakistan said the plan, considerably altered since the conference began yesterday, looked too much like imposing a settlement on Egypt.

Revamps Parts of Program

Dulles himself apparently took the initiative in revamping some of the stronger terms in the earlier draft, including the idea of using association pilots in the canal instead of Egyptian pilots.

Twin aims of the association would be a working agreement with Egypt for unrestricted passage of members' ships, and a permanent settlement based on international control. The nations in it would stand ready to coordinate their maritime, economic and political policies toward Egypt in peaceful resistance to Egyptian control.

Egypt's President Nasser took over control of the Suez Canal Co. July 26. He has said he is willing to guarantee canal passage to all ships of nations that now use the canal and to negotiate for an agreement on its operation by Egypt.

Operations Crippled By Swift & Co. Strike

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—(P)—Operations of Swift & Co., the nation's largest meat packer, were crippled today by a walk-out of 25,000 workers in 37 cities. The striking unions described the strike as "very effective."

Free World Sea Powers Back Dulles Plan for Share in Suez

Arthur Storey, principal of MacFarland Junior High School, testified that since his school was integrated he has had to call police as often as 50 times a year.

He said his problem included the carrying of knives by students. But Storey said his disciplinary problems cannot be attributed entirely to integration.

A fourth-grade teacher, Mrs. Dorothy Denon, told the subcommittee she believes white residents will move out of predominantly Negro school districts and that in effect "the time will come when the schools will be segregated again."

"In my opinion," she said, "integration has lowered standards of education in the District."

She said some of her pupils can read no more than 25 or 30 words. President Eisenhower, who applauded desegregation here as an example for other sections, was described today as convinced the inquiry will not impair integration or affect the "good sense" of the city's residents.

The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People said Gerald D. Morgan, Eisenhower's special counsel, reported this in a telegram replying to an NAACP complaint about the inquiry.

The NAACP, which made public an exchange of telegrams, had told Eisenhower that "evidence and circumstances point to a scurrilous attack . . . on Negroes of Washington and the process of desegregation."

Eugene Davidson, president of the NAACP's District branch, wired Eisenhower on Tuesday that only one of three Republicans on the subcommittee apparently would be available for the hearings.

And Davidson said this one, Rep. Broyhill of Virginia, is "an avowed segregationist."

The subcommittee is headed by Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga.) and is composed largely of Southerners.

Eisenhowers Get Welcome To Boone, Ia.

Ike Will Address National Plowing Matches, Field Days

BOONE, Iowa, Sept. 20.—(P)—"The folks are coming."

That was the byword in this central Iowa city of 12,000 today as preparations were made for an overnight visit by President and Mrs. Eisenhower—Ike and Mamie to folks in Boone.

The President's overnight stop in the town where Mamie was born is a prelude to his appearance tomorrow at National Field Days and Plowing Matches near Newton, Iowa, in a campaign bid for the important farm belt vote.

'Old Home Week' Flavor

There's a strong "Old Home Week" flavor to the Eisenhower visit. He will talk informally as honorary chairman of the Field Days tomorrow afternoon and again at the Des Moines airport just before departure.

The President will make a major farm issue speech at Peoria, Ill., Sept. 25. His opponent, Adlai Stevenson, Democratic candidate for President, gives his major farm talk at the Field Days site Saturday.

In Boone—once chosen as a typical Midwestern town—the day's mood was a gala one. Windows were polished, lawns were mowed and American flags were displayed.

High School Band Rehearses

The 60-piece Boone High School Band, official greeter band for the visit, put in its final practice toots. Some 300 Boone County boys and girls rehearsed "Ike" and "Mamie" flash card stunts they will use at Des Moines when the Eisenhowers depart tomorrow.

Busiest spot of all was the residence of Joel Carlson, Boone bank official who is Mrs. Eisenhower's uncle.

"How'd you like to have some company?" Mrs. Eisenhower asked by phone Sunday night to Mrs. Carlson.

"We'd be delighted," said Mrs. Carlson, and the trip was on. The comfortable four-bedroom residence—built in 1870 by Mrs. Eisenhower's grandfather—has hummed with activity ever since.

Will Remove Pickets For Adlai Appearance

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20.—(P)—The Teamsters Union said today it will remove picket lines from the Missouri Theater next Thursday night for the appearance of Adlai Stevenson, Democratic candidate for president.

Edwin D. Dorsey, secretary of Local 618 of the union, said the same courtesy also would be extended to President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon or Sen. Kefauver, Democratic candidate for vice president, if they speak here.

Highway Worker Dies Under Road Grader

HOUSE SPRINGS, Mo., Sept. 20.—Ludwig J. Hluzek fell to his death today from a runway road grader.

The 57-year-old employee of the Jefferson County highway department had parked the machine at the crest of a hill on a road between House Springs and State Highway 21. As he walked down the road to talk with another worker, the grader started rolling toward him.

The Missouri Highway Patrol said Hluzek jumped on the moving grader in an effort to stop it and then slipped and fell under it.

The subcommittee is headed by Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga.) and is composed largely of Southerners.

MORNING AFTER—Sailors clean up the interior of the Enlisted Men's Club at Newport, R. I., after a beer-can slinging riot broke up a rock 'n' roll dance the previous night. Nearly 1,000 servicemen were at the dance when someone put out the lights—and the brawl began. (AP Wirephoto).

Cut in Down Payments Included—Government Moves to Break New Home Credit Bottleneck

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(P)—The government today took four simultaneous actions to break the bottleneck in credit for new homes, including a cut in the down payment on low-priced houses.

The White House announced the actions, proposed some weeks ago by Albert M. Cole, administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency. Cole said today the moves had been held up in fear that the relaxation "might push the inflationary spiral still higher."

Cole predicted the bundle of new orders will have "substantial effect" in stimulating the lagging housing industry.

Drops Previous Prediction He abandoned, however, his earlier prediction that 1,300,000 new dwellings would be started this year. It now seems likely the figure will be between 1,100,000 and 1,200,000, he said.

The National Assn. of Home Builders called the moves "a step in the right direction." But NAHB's president, Joseph B. Haverstick, said in a statement it would be premature "to predict at this time how effective they will be."

In New York, the president of a leading mortgage brokerage firm called the steps "inflationary." J. M. Pringle of Pringle, Hurd & Co. said:

"It doesn't make sense for the federal reserve system to restrain credit on the one hand and for other government agencies to make credit easier on the other hand."

Federal Housing Actions

1. The Federal Housing Administration reduced from 7 per cent to 5 per cent the minimum down payment on FHA-insured homes costing $9,000 or less. On more expensive houses the down payment is unchanged—7 per cent of the first $9,000 of the mortgage and 27 per cent on the rest.

Only about 16 per cent of FHA-insured houses are appraised at $9,000 or less.

2. The Federal National Mortgage Assn. announced it will make advance commitments to banks and savings-loan companies to purchase residential mortgages at 94 per cent of their face value. It has been buying at 92 per cent.

The FNMA buys mortgages to provide the lenders with cash for further real estate investment. The price increase is intended to encourage builders to proceed with the assurance that bank funds will be available for loans to home buyers.

Loan Limits Increased

3. The Federal Home Loan Bank Board increased the amount of money home loan banks may lend to the 4,400 savings and loan institutions affiliated with the bank board.

A savings and loan company now may borrow from a home loan bank a sum equal to 12½ per cent of the company's total savings accounts. The previous limit was 10 per cent.

4. The FNMA reduced the amount of its common stock which a lender must buy when he sells mortgages to FNMA. The new requirement is 1 per cent, instead of 2 per cent.

Lions Queens Contest Will Be Held at Fox Theater October 3

The date has definitely been set for Wednesday, Oct. 3, at the Fox Theatre for the local American Royal Queen Candidate Contest sponsored by the Lions Club, with James L. Van Wagner, Jr., as the chairman.

A list of candidates will appear in Sunday's paper and this is expected to be the largest number of girls ever participating.

Music will be furnished by the Bob Cummings Orchestra and a special feature will be the appearance of the Lions Club quartette composed of Charles Maggard, Ad Taylor, Dean Binderup and Al Domingue.

Masters of ceremonies will be Jim Glens and Jack Delph.

Mrs. Lawrence Englund

Miss Margaret Sue McNeely Weds Lawrence M. Englund in Afternoon

Miss Margaret Sue McNeely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. McNeely, and Lawrence M. Englund, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence N. Englund, 606 East 11th, were united in marriage at two o'clock the afternoon of September 2 at the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Thomas W. Croxton performing the double ring ceremony. Candelabra, palms and baskets of white gladioli decorated the church.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Helen Williams played a prelude of organ music. Miss Jane Thomas, Kansas City, Kan., sang "Be My Love" and "Because." Leonard Englund, Sedalia, sang "The Lord's Prayer" at the close of the ceremony. Both were accompanied by Mrs. Williams.

As the candles were lighted by Robert Garrett and Gary Cox of Sedalia, the organist played "Clair De Lune."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ankle length dress of white nylon tulle. The bodice was of Chantilly lace over satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves ending with a point at the hand. Her headpiece was a crown of matching lace embroidered with rhinestones and held a fingertip length veil of tiered nylon tulle banded with lace. She carried an Eastern Star Bible covered with a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

The bride's only attendant, Miss Barbara Dunn, Sedalia, wore a waist length dress of pale green crystalite with a matching hat. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white carnations. Her dress was fashioned with a tight torso bodice and bouffant skirt.

The bridegroom's only attendant was Walter Loveland, Sedalia.

Robert Garrett, Gary Cox and Loren Broadbuss, all of Sedalia, served as ushers.

The bride's mother wore a light blue dress with matching blue accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a navy ensemble with navy accessories. Both had corsages of white lilies and stephanotis.

FACTORS AFFECTING FALLOUT distribution over countryside downwind from a nuclear blast are the size of the earth particles carrying the radioactivity, their altitude and the speed and direction of the wind. Generally, in the United States, the winds which would dominate the direction of fallout would be the strong, usually west-to-east winds at about 40,000 feet. For this reason, the Federal Civil Defense Administration warns that only weather experts, with their methods of tracking high-altitude winds, can predict with reasonable accuracy the area to be affected by fallout. Men with radiation monitoring instruments are also required to determine whether an area is "safe" from radioactive fallout after a nuclear attack. (FCDA Photos)

Professor Stops Heart Of Rabbit 45 Minutes Without Causing Death

STOCKHOLM — A new scientific record in stopping an animal's heart without killing was claimed here today by a Dutch professor.

The record was 45 minutes. The heart was a rabbit's.

The report caused a stir among 1,000 heart doctors attending the second European Congress of Cardiology.

Prof. I. Boerema, of Amsterdam told the conference he did the trick by using refrigeration in a pressure cabin used for testing submarine crews at a Dutch naval base.

By increasing the pressure, he said, he was able to raise the oxygen content of the blood of rabbits 15 times. This enabled him to keep their hearts open for experimental operations for 45 minutes.

At normal body temperature delicate brain tissue is destroyed by lack of oxygen in four to five minutes after heart stoppage.

By cooling the body the time is increased to about 10 minutes.

Strikers Cripple Packers

Meat Packing Plants Of Swift & Company, Located in 37 Cities, Are Hit by Walkouts

CHICAGO (AP)—Some 25,000 meat workers struck in 37 cities Thursday crippling operations of Swift & Co., the nation's largest meat packer.

The strike does not affect the Sedalia plant, since it does no meat packing, confining itself mainly to poultry and eggs.

Spokesmen for the two unions involved and the company said there was no plan to resume peace talks at once.

There were sporadic arrests near Chicago's sprawling stockyards as the unions threw up picket lines and halted employees of other packers at 14 entrances for gate identification checks.

Two men and a woman were seized for attempting to prevent a Chicago Transit Authority bus from entering the yards. Four men were arrested at the entrance to a parking lot near the stockyards.

Picket lines also formed at Swift plants in some other cities.

However, seven additional Swift plants represented by an independent union not involved in the current contract squabble, maintained normal operations.

The strike started at the 12:01 a.m. deadline as negotiators huddled in a futile eleven-hour parley that was broken off soon thereafter.

The strike against Swift is the first against the company since 1948. That walkout lasted 10 weeks.

The company listed 39 plants, including two in Chicago, the firm's headquarters. They are in 27 states. The company said workers in plants in three cities, Boise, Idaho; Jackson, Miss.; and Moultrie, Ga., were not included in the current negotiations.

They said they did not know if workers in those plants would join the strike.

The two unions, Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen and the United Packinghouse Workers, both AFL-CIO, are demanding a "substantial" wage increase. They have not disclosed the exact amount. They also are seeking a union shop, which the company said it is not willing to accept.

Both unions have been working on a day-to-day extension of the old contract, which expires Sept. 1. Federal mediators have attempted to bring the parties together on a new pact.

Union officials said in a statement that "despite the best efforts of negotiators representing the two unions, the adamant position of Swift & Co. has made it impossible to avert the strike."

The company, in a statement, said the strike started despite what it called "materially increased offers."

Company spokesmen said Swift negotiators had offered 22 cents an hour general wage hikes in a three-year contract with 10 cents an hour effective with the contract signing. They said the offer included a 6-cent increase on the first anniversary of the signing and another 6 cents on the second anniversary.

Hennings Says Farmers Being Given Squeeze

MARVILLE, Mo., Sept. 20.—(AP) Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. said tonight the nation's farmers and small business men are being "put through a financial wringer."

Hennings, Democratic candidate for re-election, said in a speech prepared for a five-county Democratic rally that a Democratic victory in the November general election is necessary to save the country from what he called a lopsided business boom from which farmers, independent business men and consumers "generally have been excluded."

Hennings said that at no time in the nation's history has there been a swifter movement toward "the creation of vast monopolies."

He accused the Republican administration of a tax policy favoring the rich, a monetary policy designed to subsidize finance capital at the expense of the borrower, and the "sabotage" of agencies designed to protect the public against "predatory business practices."

Toski Snatches Oklahoma City Open Golf Lead

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 20.—(AP) Fragile Bob Toski played the best scrambling round of golf of his life today and came up with a 4-under-par 68 to lead the first round in the $15,000 Oklahoma City Open.

The 127-pounder from Holyoke, Mass., had nines of 33-35 over the tough, wind-plagued Twin Hills Country Club course, which plays 6,673 yards to a par of 36-36-72.

The 29-year-old winner of golf's richest tournament at Tam O'Shanter in Chicago in 1954 hit only eight greens in regulation, needed only 21 putts and birdied three of the four par-3 holes.

Twenty-six players in the field of 135 qualified or bettered par for the first day of play made hazardous by a steady south wind at 25 miles per hour.

The 72-hole event winds up Sunday with one of the lucky players picking up a check for $2,400 in first prize money.

Interpreting the News—Americans Appear Gullible, Their Politicians Think So

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Are the American people gullible or do their politicians only think so?

There's evidence on both sides. There is an axiom in the newspaper business that no writer, however experienced an editor he may be, can edit his own copy.

This is one of the seasons in which most politicians both write and edit their own copy.

The "ins" point with possessive pride to every fortuitous accident which has happened during their tenure, blame all untoward events on their predecessors. They either "planned it that way" or its not their fault.

The "outs" try to cast doubts on the long-run benefits of fortuitous events, claim they would have exploited them much better, accuse the "ins" of pursuing policies which produced the untoward events.

Both sides speak in broad generalities. A vast number of people let the statements pass in the night, never relating them to actual facts. Elections often seem to be decided by who tells the people the most they want to hear, regardless.

The Republicans claim Eisenhower made peace in Korea. The Democrats say he didn't, really; that peace at the time was in the books, the police job which both sides admit was necessary was done, and that it was a very good peace anyway.

The evidence is that Russia, desirous of getting out of a situation which had gone sour on her because of the prompt reaction of a Democratic administration in America, made the peace in an atmosphere which Eisenhower had much to do with creating.

President Coolidge got the credit for a brief period of prosperity after World War I during which the administration was almost entirely passive in economic as well as other matters.

President Hoover got the blame for a depression which began in Europe before he became president in the postwar situation of a world which knew much less than now about economic controls.

Nobody knows how many thousands false impressions of history are current among the American people because of the skill with which politicians paint the picture with which they try to catch the public eye at a given time.

Sometimes it's ludicrous, sometimes downright dangerous. But its been going on ever since pioneer politicians claimed they were half men and half alligator who could whip anybody else in sight.

Now they merely claim to know more, think better, and administer better than anybody else in the particular political job they're after.

Kentucky Attorney General--

Hopes His Solution Will Stop Integration Troubles

FRANKFORT, Ky., (AP)—Atty. Gen. Jo Ferguson, instead of reaching for an aspirin, reaches for a law book and digs for a solution.

The easy-going, small town lawyer who won in his first bid for a statewide office, hopes and believes his simple receipt for orderly school integration will head off trouble such as that which beset the Kentucky communities of Clay and Sturgis.

His opinion boils down to the one conclusion that Negro parents cannot move their children into schools which have made no provisions for desegregating.

"The chief point of the opinion, I believe, is that the Supreme Court wanted an orderly process of desegregation, based on an official act and not on the initiative of some parents," said Ferguson.

A powder keg situation existed at Clay and Sturgis when his opinion went out that Negro students were enrolled without legal grounds at two white schools.

Ferguson told the parents and students they would have to wait either for a court order or for action by county boards of education.

The verdict was accepted in both towns and the situation simmered down immediately.

"We tried to follow exactly the procedure directions which were laid down by the second Supreme Court opinion," Ferguson said.

Ferguson accepts controversial puzzles as a part of his job, but he wouldn't want to be classified as a two-fisted, blood and thunder attorney general.

"I just try to be a lawyer and advise the state correctly on the law," he said. "I am a lawyer instead of a politician."

Ferguson, 41, carries the frame of an athlete, a trim six feet and 190 pounds. His mannerisms, on the other hand, are those of a serious scholar and professional man.

He ascended to the position of Kentucky's chief counsel after just 2½ years of general practice in the western Kentucky town of Central City, but he had a solid background to support his ambitions.

He won two of the University of Kentucky's highest scholastic awards, Phi Beta Kappa and its law equivalent, Order of Coif.

After graduation in 1939 and a brief stay in his law office, he volunteered for Army service as a private. He came out a captain after four years with the military government in Europe.

He doesn't consider himself a "chandler man." He received some support in his election campaign from Gov. A. B. Chandler, he said. But most of it came from "the other side," the Democratic party faction led by outgoing Gov. Lawrence Wetherby and Sen. Earle C. Clements. Chandler endorsed no candidate for attorney general in the Democratic primary.

Mrs. Ferguson, a Czechoslovakian girl whom he married in Europe, and two girls, 7 and 5, make up the Ferguson family.

Ferguson is asked many legal questions. But the query put to him most often concerns how he arrived at the spelling of his given name, Jo.

His explanation is that it is the Scottish spelling of "Joe." His great-grandfather was a Scot.

Two Californians Are Praised in Air Force Football Competition

DENVER (AP)—Two rugged Californians battling for first team tackle positions were singled out for praise today as the Air Force Academy football team scheduled an intrasquad game Saturday.

Coach Lawrence (Buck) Shaw said Saturday's performance should determine his probable starters Sept. 29 at the University of San Diego.

Shaw said the tackle spot should be one of the best-manned in the Falcon lineup. Five husky sophomores are bidding for starting roles. Outstanding are Dave Phillips, 6-foot-3, 197-pounder from Burbank, Calif., and John Dolan, 6-foot, 188 pounds, from Gardena, Calif.

Three others were used frequently at tackle last season. They are Gene Vosika of Bellevue, Neb., Bill McLain of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Emil Cwack of Yankton, S.D.

Running consistently in the starting backfield are quarterback Eddie Rosane of Pasco, Wash., halfbacks Steve Galios of Napa, Calif., and Mickey Gouyd of Cypress, Calif., and fullback Larry Thornton of Billings, Mont.

Brink's Theft Was Planned For Two Years

BOSTON (AP)—Unruffled by relentless cross-examination, Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe reiterated yesterday that the eight defendants planned the Brink's robbery with him for about two years before it was carried out.

He told a Superior Court jury that each of the eight men on trial was inside the Brink's headquarters at one time or another during 27 exploratory visits before the Jan. 17, 1950, $1,219,000 robbery.

O'Keefe, who has pleaded guilty to the robbery and is not on trial, was questioned for more than five hours by chief defense counsel Paul T. Smith yesterday before court recessed until today.

During that period, O'Keefe told substantially the same story he told under the direct questioning of Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick T. Doyle.

He testified that in preparation for what turned out to be the nation's biggest cash robbery the gang broke into Brink's 27 times between Dec. 1, 1948, and the robbery night.

Those visits, he said, were merely to learn the physical layout of the plant and to pick up whatever information they could that would help them in the robbery.

O'Keefe said members of the gang entered the premises after dark on each occasion and in groups of four or five men at a time.

Heavily waxed cartons came in round tub shape with snap-on lids; they're useful for freezing either liquid or dry foods.

Other valuable papers, sometime Thursday morning.
